in the National Rifle Association's ninth annual Friends of NRA Youth Education Summit.

The free seven-day summit in Washington, D.C., is open to high school sophomores and juniors. Participants learn about the significance of the Constitution and Bill of Rights and the importance of participating in government.

Michael was selected from applicants across the United States and was required to write an essay on the Second Amendment as part of the application process.

He is a member of the Temecula Valley Young Marines.
